DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

Information disclosure statement filed 2/10/2004 has been considered.

Drawings

The drawings were received on 6/04/2004. These drawings are acceptable.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-24 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

An electro-optic modulator is well known and common in the art. Such modulators comprise semiconductor optical waveguide regions having p-type semiconductor and n-type semiconductor regions. Friedman et al (US 4,958,898) discloses an exemplary prior art electro-optic modulator (shown below).

As can be seen from above, an insulating region that separates the two conductivity type semiconductor waveguide regions exhibits 'planar' shape. Also, electro-optic modulators that are insensitive to polarization of the optical signal are known in the art as well. Stubkjaer et al.

Art Unit: 2874

(“Recent advances in semiconductor optical amplifiers and their applications”, IEEE 1992), and Zhu et al. (“Polarization independent δ - strained InGaAs/ InGaAsP quantum well waveguide modulator”, IEEE 2000) disclose such polarization insensitive electro-optic modulators.

However, none of the prior art fairly teaches or suggests such electro-optic modulator apparatus further comprising, inter alia, insulating region that are disposed between a first conductivity type semiconductor waveguide portion and a second conductivity type (opposite the first conductivity) semiconductor waveguide portion, in which the insulating region forms a “V” shape with its vertex being parallel to the optical path of the optical beam being transmitted in the waveguide region. Analogously, none of the prior art suggests a method of operating such electro-optic modulator comprising, inter alia, a step of modulating a charge modulated region along an optical path proximate to a “V” shape insulating region disposed between first and second conductivity type semiconductor waveguide regions as claimed in the instant application.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled “Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance.”
